The Odd Column

A man in Minnesota ate 37 ears of corn at a corn eating contest. He won the championship. At the same time ten million people are starving to death in China. Isn't it a queer world?

The Akron, newest American airship, was christened at Akron, Ohio a few days ago. A score of persons were overcome by the intense heat, scores more were injured in traffic accidents and the cruel of the world. The christening ceremony was a great success. The newspaper report didn't say whether the christening flight was botched Canadian or Blue Ridge Mountain. According to the Akron it is the largest and said to be the most magnificent airship in the world. Her trial flights will be followed with interest.

Sugar is one of the Canadian imports from Australia favored with a preferential tariff in the new trade treaty between Australia and Canada. But, says the farmer, what about the Canadian beet sugar industry? That's what we'd like to know. Is the Canadian or our we got the idea that the Bennett government favored and protected home industries. Is it possible that Mr. Bennett has swapped the Canadian sugar market in exchange for the Australian market? Laundry and other manufactured articles turned out by the factories in the neighborhood of Toronto and Montreal?

Five billion dollars in gold, nearly half the world's total supply of the precious metal, is now locked up in the vaults of the United States' treasury. Treasury officials say they are not worried, but some experts are. Including the Royal Canadian Mint, which recently investigated wheat marketing in Canada, charge the federal officials with "asleeping at the wheel." Therefore, it is necessary to strengthen the structure which it should support, permitting the influx to continue. Without better regulation and more equal distribution of the world's supply of gold, some of them may go to the Orient to spread the end of the gold standard.

The British Schneider cup racing pilots have won speed record races with their bi-planes and record-breaking trophy has been flight Lieut. Staniford averaged 379.65 miles per hour in the four laps of the course. One lap was made at a speed of 388.67 miles per hour. Record breaking has become a habit with the British racing pilots.

The hunting season for ducks and geese opened Sunday noon, Sept. 15. Many hunters brought in good sized bags the first day.

MONEY LOANED TO ENLARGE
TENNIS COURT

Will Give More Room for Play
Court to be Surfaced With Clay
Soil—$100 Subscribed

The Bassano Tennis Club plan to make a number of improvements to their tennis grounds this fall. Decision to make the improvements was arrived at when the club members met last Tuesday evening.

The first improvement will consist of moving the north fence about 15 feet farther north; smoothing and leveling all the ground in the enclosure; surfacing all three courts with clay; providing suitable dressing room; the work is to start next week.

The courts will be moved farther north to a central position in the enlarged enclosure. This will provide more room behind the baselines which at present are too close to the fence.

The north fence, which is being moved will be almost entirely rebuilt, as many of the posts have rotted and the wire netting is bad.

The money to cover the cost of the work is being loaned to the club by ten members. They have advanced $10 each, the money to be repaid next season out of fees.

E. Palmer of Calgary.

The Bassano Women's Institute is doing good work in assisting needy families in the town and district. The organization will be pleased to accept contributions in food and clothing, and will see that these reach families who are in need of assistance. Most of us have articles of clothing which we will never wear again. These will help keep somebody warm this winter.

THE PEDDLER PEST

We are all familiar with the itinerant peddler. He knocks at the door during the housewife's busy hours, and using the doasre as his excuse, asks for some room and office launches out on a line of patter designed to interest his buyer into buying whatever he had to sell.

The itinerant peddler is a nuisance, and our advice is, do not buy him.

He invades the privacy of the home, and tries to turn it into a salesroom for his own personal gain. He knows that most people hate to be roused on their own doorstep and slam the door in his face, so he carries on this sentiment and tries to coax the housewife listening to part with his or her money.

The goods the itinerant peddler has for sale are usually of inferior quality. "Probably he will never be in the town again, so what care is in the goods?" The housewife finds out later that the goods he sold are not satisfactory and that he charged a high price for them?

The local merchant is a resident of the town, and he is always ready to make adjustments on a sale with which the customer is not satisfied.

The itinerant peddler's article is guaranteed, but he may be a customer and miles away when the customer finds out it is not satisfactory.

The local merchant carries a fine stock of goods and offers a good range of stock for customers. If he has what you want he will be glad to let you have it.

Don't buy from peddlers. The next time one appears at the door, say sweetly but firmly, "No, thank you; we do not need a single thing; we have never bought anything at the door; the home is not a place of business for us."

Then gently close the door or turn your back on him before he gets a chance to say another word. You will find it surprisingly easy after the first time.

"Hell-Fire Jack" Visits Canada

Visiting Canada for the purpose of officiating at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition and presiding over the 8th biennial conference of the British Empire Service League, Admiral of the Fleet Earl Mountbatten, former Governor-General of New Zealand and friend of ex-service men the world over, arrived at Quebec on Saturday, August 22nd, aboard the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Canada." The accompanying picture shows the famous British sailor on the ship's flying bridge, as he took the salute of two warships in Quebec harbor, which "dressed ship" and cheered that "Hell-Fire Jack" had arrived. Then at Canada's greatest port, "Hell-Fire Jack" found the plaudits of his own beloved navy added to those of the public of Canada, while a shore battery boomed out a 19-gun salute and a guard of honor of Canadian infantry snapped through the motions of "present arms," as he set foot on the Dominion's soil. His Canadian host, participated by a number of public appearances, is being followed with the greatest attention, both by veterans and by the public as a whole.

THE PICTURES

A modern young woman who dares to embark upon a globe-trotting honeymoon without benefit of clergy is Norma Shearer's glamorous heroine in "Strangers May Know," which is being presented at the Orpheum Theatre, this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 17, 18, and 19.

Filmed from the Ursula Parrott novel, the picture is a stirring drama of the easy caresses of the turbulent emotions experienced by this gorgeous creature. Never before has Miss Shearer appeared to better advantage, in the mind of this reviewer, and her characterization of the girl's heartbreak ranks with her work in "The Divorce," also written by Miss Parrott.

Smart Dialogue

In this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, and pointed dialogue plays a paramount part although the story is a simple one. The hero becomes entangled in so often the case in a talking picture based upon sparkling dialogue. The scenes are lavishly presented under the masterful direction of George Fitzmaurice, but too much credit should be given to John Sturges for the adaptation of the book.

"The Single Girl" is billed for Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday next week, Sept. 21, 22, and 23. It is a story of two dissident, a man and a girl, who, after a number of trials and tribulations, learn the virtues to respectability and decency, only to find their happiness jeopardized by a rat who likes being a rat. However, they surmount all obstacles and achieve happiness, if it is a very human happiness with a splendid cast. Kay Johnson and Bert Lytell play the leading roles.

El Brendel, that inimitable humorist star in "Mr. Lemon, of Orange," at the Orpheum Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 24, 25, and 26. Bill Doser plays opposite him in this rollicking tale of the famous humorist in gangland.

FINE SHEEP RAISED ON C. P. R. FARM AT TILLEY

As a further evidence that western Canada is admirably suited to the production of high class live stock, one need but to refer to the record of the pure white sheep which were born on the C. P. R. farm at Tilley, Alberta, and sold on August 26, 1931, at public auction at the National Wool Growers Sale, Salt Lake City, Utah. This is the largest sale ever held on the continent.

The two-year-old brought a price of $19.00, the yearling $25.00, and the lamb $15.

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webster, of Tilley, on Thursday, Sept. 17, at the Bassano Hospital.

Call an Ambulance

"You look flustered, man." "I am. My girl threw me over." "Why worry. There's plenty more where she came from."

"Yeah, but this one threw me over that cliff."
